snowmobilers urge solutions

Snowmobiles use 2/10 of 1% of the national gasoline consumption.

FACT 2 Snowmobiles are not for recreation use only but perform useful chores such as herding, cattle feeding, rescue missions mail delivery, patrolling. .

FACT 3 Snowmobilers are responsible citizens concerned with safety, environmental awareness and dedicated to high conservation principles.

FACT 4 Snowmobilers pledge a 10% reduction in gasoline use by following eight simple operational procedures:

Measure and mix gas and oil accurately, using the manufacturer's recommended ratios. Excess oil in gas increases fuel consumption

Use regular grade fuel. To avoid spillage, nover turn or leave the vehicle on its side.

Drive at moderate speed. Constant moderate throttle operation with slower acceleration will utilize 130: more efficiently.

Do not idle the engine Idling consumes fuel without any positive result and may cause inellicient operation due to spark plug fouling and high operation temperatures.

Follow purket at groomed trails instead of now and new paths in deep laoso snow

Keep the engine in top operating condition at all times.

 Check engine anition timing. Use only now or very clean spars, plugs of the proper heat range and want the proper gap Do not charge any of the carburetor settings

Maintain all vehicle companents in good order throughout the season. Proper track and drive chain tension. proper ski and clutch parement and proper lubrication are important lactors for fuel economy as well as lower maintenance costs.
